

Failure is a better teacher than success, but she seldom finds an apple on her desk.

“The purpose of today’s learning is to defeat yesterday’s understanding.”

Miyamoto Musashi, Japanese Swordsman & Author, Book of Five Rings(1584-1645)

“The illiterate of the future will not be the individual who cannot read and write, but the one who cannot learn, unlearn and relearn.”

Alvin Toffler, American Writer & Futurist

“Genius means little more than the faculty of perceiving in an un-habitual way.”

William James, Psychologist & Philosopher

“Most successes have been built on failures, not on one failure alone but on several. A majority of the great historic accomplishments of the past have been the final result of a persistent struggle against discouragement and failure. A man is never beaten until he thinks he is.”

Charles Gow, Author

“There is no education like adversity.”

Benjamin Disraeli, British Statesman & Novelist

“When you are educated, you’ll believe only half of what you hear. When you’re intelligent, you know which half.”

Jerry Perryman, Retired USAF Major General

“I have had a lot of success with failure.”

Thomas Edison
